RENEWABLE ENERGY RESOURCES

Stamp Jackson & Procter's experience with negotiating the terms of renewable energy projects for land owners can ensure you benefit to the full from renewable energy opportunities.

Be secure and protected

Renewable energy technology offers a tantalising opportunity for you to develop your land assets in new directions. These exciting prospects present several challenges when considering the complexity of securing your land assets for developing energy production infrastructure, such as wind turbines. The potential income from renewable resources needs to be carefully balanced with the long term future of your land holdings and short term considerations of building, accessing and maintaining a substantial engineering installation.

Prompt and thorough legal advice can help you enjoy the untapped resources in and over your property.

Legal challenges may include:

- Option Agreement and Lease negotiations
- Road and land access rights
- Business terms and conditions
- Maintenance and emergency obligations
- Loss of property value or subsidies
- Security of business assets
- Regular rent reviews
- Long term insurance provision
- Planning applications
- Asset protection

Stamp Jackson & Procter bring together the necessary legal knowledge and business skills with the relevant experience to ensure you enjoy the maximum benefit from the renewable energy opportunity.
